1. Institutional Research Integrity and Authorship Criteria

Faculty members at the institution must adhere strictly to established academic standards regarding research integrity, publication ethics, and intellectual property.

Authorship Standards:
Authorship credit must be based on substantial contributions according to the following four criteria:
1. Substantial contributions to the conception or design of the research work, or the acquisition, analysis, or interpretation of data.
2. Drafting the academic work or revising it critically for important intellectual content.
3. Final approval of the manuscript version to be published.
4. Agreement to be accountable for all aspects of the research in ensuring that questions related to the accuracy or integrity of any part are appropriately investigated and resolved.

Individuals who provide general supervision, departmental administrative support, or financial sponsorship do not qualify for co-authorship and must instead be recognized in the Acknowledgments section.

2. Conflict of Interest and External Consulting Regulations

Faculty are permitted to engage in professional consulting activities provided such engagements do not compromise their institutional responsibilities or create unmanaged conflicts of commitment.

Key Regulations:
- Time Allocation: External consulting activities must not exceed an average of one day per working week (maximum 20% of professional institutional commitment) during academic contract periods.
- Mandatory Disclosure: All faculty must submit an annual Financial Conflict of Interest (FCOI) disclosure form identifying any equity interests, consulting fees, or royalties exceeding $5,000 from commercial entities related to their academic research.
- Student Involvement: Faculty may not recruit graduate students or postdoctoral scholars to work on commercial consulting projects without prior written authorization from the Department Chair and Dean of Research.

3. Sabbatical Leave Eligibility and Application Procedures

The institution provides tenured faculty members with sabbatical leave opportunities to conduct uninterrupted scholarly research, author books, or develop advanced pedagogical curricula.

Eligibility Criteria:
- Tenured faculty members are eligible to apply for sabbatical leave after completing six consecutive academic years of full-time institutional service.
- Sabbatical leave may be taken as either:
  Option A: One full academic year at 75% of base institutional salary.
  Option B: One semester at 100% of base institutional salary.

Application Guidelines:
Applications must be submitted to the Sabbatical Review Committee at least nine months prior to the proposed leave commencement date. Applications must include an abstract, detailed research methodology, expected scholarly deliverables (e.g. peer-reviewed monographs or peer-reviewed journal papers), and a departmental instructional continuity plan.
